

Hey Buddy, let me ask you, how would you like me to come on over there right now and sort you out?

'Sorting you out' can have two very different meanings. The obvious one could be a somewhat intimidating visit from a forty stone Sumo wrestler.

The other (not so obvious) one is that we'd like the opportunity to maybe come round and tell you about a service that we think will sort out your potential delivery problems once and for all.

You see, when it comes down to a speedy, cost effective and perfectly organized heavyweight Sort and Segregate service, Elite Services really packs a punch and can plan an appropriate service that will really knock you out - OK?
